3 New standards, amendments, interpretations issued but not yet effective

The following new pronouncements, considered relevant to the Company, are not yet effective as at January 1, 2025 and have not been early adopted by the Company. The Company's assessment of the impact of these new standards, interpretations or amendments is set out below.

Lack of Exchangeability (Amendments to IAS 21)

The amendments to IAS 21 address the issue of currency exchangeability and provide guidance on determining the exchange rate when a currency is not exchangeable. These amendments require entities to assess whether a currency can be exchanged into another currency within a normal administrative delay and through a market or exchange mechanism that creates enforceable rights and obligations. If a currency is not exchangeable, entities must estimate the spot exchange rate at the measurement date

Additionally, the amendments mandate disclosures that enable users of financial statements to understand the impact of a currency not being exchangeable. These disclosures include qualitative and quantitative information about the lack of exchangeability and its effects on the entity's financial position. The amendments are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2025

The amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2025 to changes in accounting

The amendment will be appropriately applied when the circumstances demand
