

THIRD QUARTER FINANCIAL YEAR 2027 FORECAST

STATEMENT OF PROFIT OR LOSS AND OTHER COMPREHENSIVE INCOME

Assumptions underlying the statement of Profit or Loss and Other comprehensive income

1. We anticipate a gradual reduction in interest rates in FY2027, following the reduction in the Central Bank's Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) from 26.5% to 23.0% and the expectation of a continued easing of monetary policy during the period.
2. The raw material cost-to-sales ratio is projected to remain at 75% of third-quarter FY2027 revenue, higher than the second quarter of FY2027, due to the continuous increase in the cost of our major raw material, copper, without a corresponding increase in selling prices, as a result of the highly competitive market environment.
3. We anticipate a 15% increase in revenue in the third quarter of FY2027, based on our actual revenue performance in the first quarter of FY2027 and the expected improvement in sales volume during the period.
4. Distribution costs are expected to increase in the third quarter of FY2027 compared to the second quarter of FY2027, primarily due to increase in pump price of fuel.
5. The company's income tax rate of 34% has been applied, following the recent approval of the New Tax Reform Bill by the Senate.
6. Profit before tax is estimated at ₦122, million, compared to the ₦162 million forecast for the second quarter of FY2027, based on the preceding assumptions.

Opening Cash and Cash equivalent	(1,220,902)
Cash and Cash equivalent at end of the period	3,767,356

Assumptions Underlying the Third Quarter of FY 2027 Statement of Cash flow forecast

1. Cash receipts from customers are expected to be approximately 95% of revenue, based on the assumption that 5% of sales will be made on credit.
2. There will be an increase in cash outflows due to the continuous increase in the prices of raw materials, particularly copper, which will result in higher raw material procurement costs.
3. We anticipate an increase in investing activities in the third quarter of FY2027, particularly for Property, Plant, and Equipment, compared to the second quarter of FY2027, in order to expand capacity.
4. We also expect a decrease in financing activities in the second quarter of FY2027, due to fully repayment of public commercial paper.
5. Net cash and bank balances in the third quarter of FY2027 are expected to increase compared to the second quarter of FY2027, driven by anticipated cash inflows from customers and additional funding from bank facilities
