Transcorp Group's disciplined cost management and operational efficiency, underpinned by a resilient business strategy and solid corporate governance ethos, delivered a strong revenue and profit performance, with improved margins and ratios notwithstanding challenges in the operating environment. The power sector was impacted by gas supply constraints, as well as grid-related challenges, which saw a reduction in the overall power supply in the country. The hospitality business continues to innovate and leverage its assets to deliver superior service excellence to the nation.

President/Group CEO, Transnational Corporation Plc, Owen D. Omogiafo, OON, commented:

"Despite disruptions to power transmission infrastructure and a challenging macroeconomic environment, Transcorp delivered a strong profit and an even stronger balance sheet, a reflection of our operational discipline and efficiency.

At Transcorp Group, our operations are driven by our purpose to improve lives and transform Africa. We continue to create impact in the sectors that matter most to Nigeria's future, and that same conviction continues to guide us through every phase of the cycle.

Despite the constrained grid infrastructure seen in the first half of the year, we forged ahead, engaging with strategic partners to deliver much-needed power to Nigerians. Through our 5,000-capacity, multi-purpose event facility, Transcorp Centre, and our flagship 1,000-key Transcorp Hilton Abuja, we have continued to make the Federal Capital Territory the preferred location for business and leisure. Our strategy is clear, our balance sheet is robust, and our confidence in the value we are creating for our shareholders remains firm."

Group Chief Finance Officer, Transnational Corporation Plc, Festus Izevbizua, comments:

"These results reflect the quality of the underlying business and resilience of the Group's earnings. Despite a lower revenue base arising from sector-wide power infrastructure constraints, we expanded our profit-before-tax margin to 31.4%, from 30.7% in the prior period, a direct result of disciplined cost optimization and operational efficiency across our businesses. Our financial position remains strong, with a robust equity base which grew to N367.8 billion by half-year 2026. Our strength is hinged on the diversified earnings capability from key sectors, including the hospitality business, which grew its profit after tax by 21%.

This financial foundation gives us the confidence to protect and grow long-term value for our shareholders as operating conditions normalise."
